Boston, June 4th, 1855.

Esteemed Friend:

41 Mr. John A. Jackson, a very promising sculptor in this city, (recently returned from Italy,) having moulded a most admirable bust of Wendell Phillips, which will probably never be surpassed, if again equalled, as a likeness of this eloquent ora-tor and gifted advocate of freedom, (whose features deserve to be handed down to posterity along with his growing fame,) it is deemed highly desirable to have it put into marble, to be placed in some pub-lic institution in Boston, as may hereafter be a-greed upon. The artist's regular price, in such cases, is $400 - one hundred of which he generously contributes towards securing the marble semblance of so noble a man, leaving $300 to be raised by sub-scription. This sum it is proposed to solicit of a se-lect number of Mr. P's friends, (of course, without his knowledge,) in such proportion as they may feel disposed to give, without taxing any one un-duly. The money collected will be paid over to Fran-cis Jackson, as Treasurer, and duly acknowledged. Should you approve of the object, any sum you may be inclined to give, however small, will be thankfully accepted, and may be forwarded to Mr. Jackson, Hollis Street, or to the subscriber, 21 Cornhill, Boston.

Yours, with much respect,

Wm. Lloyd Garrison.

Oliver Johnson.
